The Holy Land.

N. Y. Sun. Lieutenant Conder of the British Palestine exploring party, has taken his surveying party back to Jerusalem for the winter, bringing with him the results for the first campaigh across the Jordan. Over 500 names have been collected, more than 200 ruins have been examined, some 400 cromlechs have been found, and plans, sketches and photographs have been taken. In addition to the cromlechs, several menhirs of standing stones have been found, and ancient stone circles in connection with both classes of meanurents. les in connection with both classes nonuments. Among the sights ex-ed are Heshbon, Elealah, Madeba, Ball-Mean Nebo and Pisgah, the hot springs of Callirhoc Rabboth, Amman, and the Jordan Valley. Licuted ant Conder reports that he has found the place of worship of Baal Peor and the site of Bamoth Basi; that he has is a second to the site of Bamoth Basi; that he has a second to the site of Basich Basic Bas the site of Bamoth Basi; that he has an important suggestion to make as to the "bedstead" of Og; that he has discovered the method by which the enormous stones used at Arsk et Emir were brought up from the quarries; that he has found a Sassanian building at Amman, which seems likely to illustrate in an interesting manner the architecture of the Kubbet-ez-Sakhra at Jerusalem.

costs £30,000 a year, a "liberal" stable for a great country house has been known to cost £4,000 annually, the late Lord Mayo's wine bill as the Vicercy of India exceeded that sum, and any man familiar with Cowes will point out steam yachts which for every month they are afloat cost £1,500. There are many men in England who spend £100,000 a year practically on themselves and their families, and if we were to include purchases, as the writer in the Quarterly does, among prodigalities, we suspect the ancient prodigalities, we suspect the ancient world would be outdone.—London

More Gulteau WASHINGTON, December 20.

It will be remembered that some days ago, in Court, Guiteau, who had just read in the papers that his divorced wife had been summoned by the prosecution as a witness against him. made various vulgar remarks concern ing her, and threatened that when she came upon the stand he would rip up her record, as he termed it. Mrs. Dunmere did testify on Friday last, into effect and although her evidence went very far to prove him a sane scoundrel, it was observed, with suprise, that he never interrupted her, and as she went out of the Court room he spoke of her whom he wished well. It was also remarked that during her examination he exhibited an extraordinary degree of nervons fear. His hands trembled as he held the paper with which he was concerting himself, and he breath ed a long sigh of relief when he induced Scoville to cut short the cross-

The curiosity of the spectators that daily crowd the court-room were disappointed in their hope of a sensation. There has been a great deal of conjecture as to what influence abated the ordinary truculence and blackguard-ism of this murderer and forced him to conduct himself decently towards her. The explanation is that when Mr. Dunmere arrived in Washington with his wife he heard of the threats that Guiteau had made and at once sought an interview with Mr. Scoville, to whom he declared most emphatically, that if the assassin attempted to acken his wife's character or subject her to the slightest inconvenience while she was on the stand, he would shoot him down as he would a dog.

Mr. Scoville communicated to Guiteau the warning Mr. D. had uttered, and hence the wretch treated her with courtesy. While preparing to leave for the Court on the morning that Mrs. D. testified Guiteau kept up a running talk with his guard, and intimated his intentions of making things lively during the trial that day. "That divorced wife of mine," said Guiteau, "has been brought here to do me harm, and I propose to show her up."

"I would advise you to do nothing of the kind, Guiteau," said Deputy Warden Rusk, who overheard the remark.

"Why not?" asked the murderer ex-"Because," was the answer, "ther husband will be near her, and close enough to see everything you do and hear everything you say." "But he won't dare to interfere with me. I am under the protection of Court."

"That is true," said Mr. Rusk, "but wouldn't trust him. He is a powerful man, and looks like a determined man, and I have heard he has taken some chances in Leadville."

"Is that so!" exclaimed Guiteau, apparently surprised. "I never heard that of him before."

The guards say he dropped conversation at this point and was led out of the jail quietly. The loss of 2 days incidental to the death and funeral of Mrs. Hobbs. will still further delay a termination of the trial, and it is very doubtful now if a verdict will be reached this

-In a collision on the New York Central to-day a fireman and several assengers were killed,

-The formation of the House Committees is the leading topic of conversation in Washington just now.

-New York mining stocks to-day are dull, with the exception of Robinson, in which a large business was done at declining rates.

-The Senate to-day confirmed the nomination of L. O. Howe as Postnaster General, and Judge Gray of Massachusetts as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court,

-There was a semi panic in Lon don in American securities yesterday. -It is reported that 400 people were drowned by the bursting of a dam at Pergaup, Algiers.

-The nomination of Grey as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, as successor of the late Chief Justice Clifford of the United States Supreme Court, is cordially received in Boston.

nencement of the day, and the

The carliest division of the year into months comprised thelve lunations of about 291/2 days each, making the year 845 d ays. This division had the very inconvenient result of transporting the beginning of the year to diff-

The Egyptians made the month 30 days exactly, and added 5 supplementary days at the end of the year. They kept no count of the additional quarter day and more, and thus the mmencement of the year went back a little more than a day in every four years. Hence 1461 Egyptian years are equal to 1460 years of 36514 days

The Greeks divided the month into three periods; as subsequently was done by the French for a short time. The Roman division was most confusing and unscientific. The month had three epochs, named the calends, sones and ides. The calends were the first days of the month; the ides began either on the thirteenth or fifeenth day; while the nones began on the ninth day before the ides. The Roman year had only ten nonth, opening with March. In the reign of Numa, who is said to have succeeded Romulus B. C. 716, two months were added—January at the beginning and February at the end; and some two hundred and fifty years later February was given its present position in the year. Then the month had 29 and 30 days alternately, making the year 354 days in all. But as it would never do to have the year consist of an even number of days, one more was added for luck. But even then the year was ten days and nearly six hours short; and Numa ordered an additional month to be in-C. S. Cesar abolished the lunar year and futerca'ary month, and regulated the year entirely by the sun, fixing the mean length of the year at 36514 days and decreeing that every fourth year should have 366 days, as at present. In order to restore the months to their proper places, he ordered that the fore the first under the new system should have two extra months of 83 and 34 days respectively; and as the intercalary month partially fell into that year, this memorable year contained 445 days and is known as

CHICAGO, May 30, 1881.

II H. Warner & Co., Rochester, N. Y.

IX DEAR SIBS: For several sears 1 have been a sufferer, and until your select Kidney and Liver Cure was raggested I have not known what it is to be free from path. My family physician attributed all my suffering to a diseased condition of my kidneys, and after he had failed to give me rellef. I tried your remdy, and am a well man fo-day.

Thousands of equally strong endersements—many of them, in cases where hope was abandoned—have been voluntarily given, showing the remarkable power of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, in all diseases of the kidneys, liver or urinary organs. If any one who reads this has any physical trouble, remember the great danger of dalay. dec9

THE SUN. NEW YORK.

THE SUN for 1883 will make its fifteenth annual revolution under the present management, shuing, as always, for all, big and little, mean and gractous, contented and unhappy. Republican and Democratic, depraved and virtuous, intelligent and obtuse. The Sun's light is for maskind and woman-kind of every sort; but its genial warmth is for the good, while it peans but discomferion the blistering backs of the persistently wicked.

parties of the street, succinct, unconventional way, all the news of the world, omitting no event of human interest, and comeasting upon affairs with the fearlesaness of absolute independence. The success of this experiment was the success of This Suw. It effected a permanent change in the style of American newspapers. Every important newspaper established in this country in the dozen years past has been modelled after Tun Sux. Every important journal already existing has been modified and bettered by the force of Tun Sux's example.

lars, whether it happens in Brooklyn or Bokhara.

In politics we have decided opinions; and are accessomed to express them in language that can be understood. We saw what we think about men and events. That habit is the only secret of The Sun's political course.

The Weekly Sun gathers into eight pages the best matter of the seven drily issues. An Agricultural Department of unequaled meric, full market reports, and a liberal proportion of literary, scientific and demestic intelligence complete the Werkly Sun, and make it the best newspaper for the farmer's household that was ever printed.

Who does not know and read and like The SYNDAY SUN, each number of which is a cololouda of interesting literature, with the best poetry of the day, prose every line worth reading, news, humor—matter enough to fill a good-sized book, and infinitely more varied and entertaining than any book, big or little? If our idea of what a newspaper should be pleased you, send for The Sun.

Our terms are as follows:

For the daily Sun, a four page sheet of twenty eight columns, the price by mail, to Sc cents a month, or $6.50 a, a year; or including the Sanday paper, an sight-page sheet of fifty six columns, the price is 65 cents per month, or $7.70 a year, poetage paid.

The Sunday edition of The Sun is also.

postage paid.

The Sunday edition of THE SUN is also furnished separalely at $1 20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the Warmly Sun, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an

An accidental discovery of great value. An Inestimable Benefit] to Mankind.

UNCLE BEN JO'S

UNCLE BEN JO was born in Boston in 1800. Being a botanist, he effected many wonderfu. cures with roots and herbs. Ja 1844 he went to South America to study botany, and while there accidentally made his great discovery. The natives of this country were quite familiar with it, and had always supposed it to be a poisonous herb, which they used for the sole purpose of keeping snakes away from their tents or houses. This they did by laying it in a circle about the same at a proper distance off. This herb, Unde Jo, as well as the natives, considered a very obnoxious and poisonous one, and when green and fresh it threw off a very distasteful and repulvive odor. The herb grows about two feet high, and about eight inches of the top part of its stalk is leafless, and this par lops over and hangs downward perpendicularly, and from its curved neck to its end it increases in size, and on the end of the same is a large, burly-looking ball, which stalk and ball, in this hanging position, locks precisely like the tongue of a bell. Hence Uncle Jo named it the Bell Tongue Plaut. In South America this herb is only lound in the extreme interior of the country, and the natives there call it "Zarr Nero." It is a wonderful cure of kidney and liver diseases, also, dyspepsia, neuraligis and rheematism. We have a whole library full of testimouslais. Sold by
